

Pennies From Heaven

Dear Friends and Family,

I conducted an experiment this past year. Fueled by doubt and cynicism of the "law of attraction" principle that has become popular, I decided I would become a penny magnet. I didn't go searching in couch cushions and coat pockets, I merely picked up coins that appeared in my path over the course of a day. Over one year, I picked up 817 coins (and two five dollar bills!) for a total of $41.24.

I have earmarked my "pennies from heaven" for the Postpartum Resource Center of New York. PRCNY is a non-profit 501 (c) (3) organization that supports and educates women and families affected by postpartum disorders. PRCNY was an integral part of my recovery from a severe postpartum disorder, and the guidance, support and education they provided to me and my family were invaluable.

I am asking you to dig up your loose change and join me in donating to PRCNY. A donation of any amount would be appreciated, but perhaps you can match my donation. And remember, when you see a penny in your path, pick it up...and give it away.

With love and gratitude,

Stacey
